

Best Practices in Project Governance for Governing Boards

Thursday & Friday, February 10 & 11, 2022
1:30pm to 4:45pm via zoom

COURSE OUTLINE

Project governance is about leadership, direction, control, and implementation of value, effectiveness, efficiency, and security in project delivery. It applies the accepted principles, organization, compliance, process, documentation, technology and competency to direct the collaborated accomplishment of agreed project results, and the control of the project risks associated to the product, people, policy, procedures, and provider of service delivery.

Project leadership, direction and control communicates to the project organization the valid and verifiable understanding of the following:

1. The acceptable and actionable elements that defines project knowledge, justification, authority, agreement, results and enabler.
2. Methodology that determines the "what, how and who" elements behind the delivery of the justified and funded project objectives of the stakeholders.
3. Competency building
